TOKYO, Feb. 12.—Flatly and unequivocally, Japan today rejected the demand of Great Britain, the United States and France for information on her naval building plans.

The government's formal reply to the identical notes sent by the three powers as a result of reports Japan is building 45,000-ton battleships was made public late tonight.

Replies To U. S. Protests Also
Shortly before, Japan had replied to Secretary of State Cordell Hull's protest over the recent series of preventive incidents and mistreatment of Americans at Nanking and elsewhere.

For this situation, Japan expressed regret, blamed it on "mistaken" results from the clean-up of Chinese remnants, and state adequate steps had been taken to prevent recurrence.

Senate Set To Approve Farm Bill Conference Report Next Monday

By ARTHUR HACHTEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—With the senate set to approve the farm bill conference report Monday and send it to President Roosevelt for signature, veteran members today saw in the measure "political dynamite" in the elections next fall.

Under a unanimous consent agreement, the senate will vote not later than 3:30 p. m. Monday. There was no session today. Though an overwhelming majority of the senate was polled in favor of the bill, privately misgivings over the effect of the measure were expressed. Touching every producer of major crops in the nation, reaction of the farmers once the plan goes into effect was speculated upon.

Most of the Republican senators will vote against the report, which is materially different than the bills previously passed by house and senate. A few southern Democrats also will vote against it. But indications were the measure would be approved by a vote of at least two to one.

Recommend Plan To Reduce Nation's Highway Death Toll

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The bureau of public roads today submitted to congress six recommendations for cutting the nation's highway death toll of nearly 40,000 lives a year.

After an extensive survey of driving conditions, vehicles and drivers in the 48 states, and close examination of laws governing operations of motor vehicles, the bureau recommended:

1. Uniform consolidation of traffic laws of various states, including identical penalties for violations.
2. Improvement of analysis of accident causes.
3. Consolidation of regulations governing accident-reporting into a national law.
4. Improvement of vehicle inspection practices of many states, with an eye toward more rigid requirements for approval of equipment.
5. Maintenance of accurate case-hisories of highway accidents for publication in safety-education campaigns.
6. Maintenance of accident-records of every licensed driver to weed out "accident-prone" drivers, or repeaters.

Findings that "accidents breed accidents," the bureau explained that "accident-prone" drivers comprise only 4 per cent of the nation's auto operators, yet cause 36 per cent of the accidents.

In hitting at varying laws which confront interstate drivers, the bureau stated "a human being cannot memorize differing rules for 48 states, and thus might violate a rule and be reported immediately as possibly causing an accident."

Hand-signals were pointed out as an example. A signal for a left hand turn is extension of the left arm straight out from the car in 27 states, the bureau found, while in 6 states the same turn is signified by point to the left and upward, or downward in others.

However, the bureau found that the few laws that were similar in a number of states were weakened by the vast differences between the sentences in each state for an identical violation. For example, a drunken driver causing death may be sentenced anywhere from 30 days to 20 years, depending on the state where the accident occurred.

In accident-reporting, the bureau found only 15 states require accident to be reported immediately to a state bureau, 19 had no central control for receiving these reports and 14 actually required no accident reports.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Democrats have their Jackson Day, when they gather at $100 a plate dinners and belabor the opposition—but the Republicans have Lincoln's birthday by way of recompense. And tonight from scores of platforms there will issue stentorian Republican blasts against the New Deal and all its works.

Scarcely a Republican was left in the Capital today. They were scattered far and wide to make speeches on the 129th anniversary of the birth of the emancipator and patron-founder of the party.

Opposition to New Deal
Through these speeches will run the thread of not only opposition to the New Deal, but a call for Republican reorganization and party militancy in 1940 when a President is to be elected.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, who at this stage of the game probably rates as "favorite" for the presidential nomination in the Republican future books, will speak tonight in Boston. Vandenberg is one of the strongest exponents of the New Deal.

That was the story revealed here today after U. S. Marshal Al Hosinski sought and obtained permission to have one more glimpse of the switch when Dalhover cued to the electric chair April 8.

It is the marshal's task, ordinarily, to perform the electrocution, but Hosinski came to like Dalhover because of one of his standing jokes. King Carol Seeks To Throttle Foes

Newest Dictator Moves

CENSORSHIP IS NOW ESTABLISHED

By ALEX LUNCAN

BUCHAREST, Feb. 12.—Once an exile, but now a "neophyte" in the ranks of Europe's dictators, King Carol II of Rumania moved swiftly and with the touch of an expert today to throttle his extremist foes on both the right and left.

Strict military press censorship was established to keep a sharp watch for any comments that might be deemed too critical of the activities of the new cabinet through which the monarch is carrying out his "personal" rule.

The new premier, Dr. Mircea Christea, jungle-bearded patriarch of the Rumanian orthodox church, backed the 45-year-old Carol to the limit with a speech that stressed the need of regaining the confidence of Rumania's friends and allies after what is now being called the six-week "nightmare" under the fallen regime of Octavian Goga.

To Restore Calm
Addressing Carol when the new ministry was sworn into office, Dr. Christea said:

"The government is anxious to restore calm and order at home and strengthen the confidence which we need from our allies and from all neighboring countries with whom we should live in good understanding. As far as is possible we should increase our friendships in the interests of general peace."

The general opinion here was that Carol assumed his new "strong man" role because of misgivings regarding the apparently unsettled internal position of Germany and Italy and belief that more radical foreign policies of the Rome-Berlin axis might lead Rumania into dangers which she firmly hitched to the Nazi-Fascist star.

Another factor was the unfriendly attitude adopted by Soviet Russia during the Goga regime, under which Rumania temporarily veered away from the Paris-London axis, to which she now appears to be returning with considerable haste.

Margiotti Hits Hand-Picking Of Candidates

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12.—Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti today called for an open Democratic primary and challenged the right of "a handful of political bosses to hand-pick the candidates."

In a direct slap at party leaders who failed last night to select a candidate for governor in meetings here, Margiotti insisted in a statement that the "right to select candidates belongs to all the people in the party."

"I am unequivocally in favor of a free, open and uncontested primary," asserted the attorney general. "Under no circumstances would I participate in a movement to deprive the people of their right to support anyone who might choose to seek the nomination."

"It was back-room state-making conferences which bred the present resentments that led to the overthrow of the Republican party. It would be political suicide for the Democratic party to follow this shameful and outmoded policy."

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Feb. 12.—In an important conference certain to play a major part in the future of Europe, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg met for the first time today.

The shadow of Premier Mussolini hung over the meeting of Haus Wamboldt, Hitler's picturesque villa overlooking the German-Austrian border as the two dictators met.

Seek Compromise
For reliable reports from Vienna said Schuschnigg had planned to pursue his government of all Nazi elements and refrained from doing so at the behest of Mussolini, who urged a talk with Hitler first in an effort to find a compromise.

Hitler extended the actual invitation, Schuschnigg was at Salzburg. Deeply concerned over the recent progress of events since the Fuehrer's army and government shake-up, he was reported to have communicated with Mussolini.

The result was that the metored immediately to Berchtesgaden, accompanied only by Herr Schmidt, under-secretary of state for home affairs.

Secretive Surroundings Meeting
Considerable secrecy surrounded the meeting it was reliably learned, however, that Hitler himself thought the time had come for a "showdown" on Nazi-ism in Austrian affairs.

Upset in Hitler's mind was the determination to find out definitely whether or not Schuschnigg plans to restore the monarchy in Austria in the face of any German action against him.

Second, he wanted to know to what extent Schuschnigg is willing to compromise on Nazi participation in the Austrian government.

Third, he wished to sound out the Chancellor on the extent of Austrian commitments to other powers in Central Europe and determine what parts are open for Austro-German collaboration.

Long Conference On Selection Of Candidate For Governor Not Successful

JOHN L. LEWIS SAYS KENNEDY IS MAN

By EVERETT C. GERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12.—The Democratic state leadership was sharply divided today in an effort to agree on a candidate for governor at the May 17 primary.

Labor played a potent role in conferences which lasted until 2 o'clock this morning, with busy-brown John L. Lewis, CIO chief, insisting that Labor Gov. Thomas Kennedy be slated for governor or U. S. senator.

With equal vigor, spokesmen for U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey were pressing the leaders to settle on State Chairman David L. Lawrence for the gubernatorial nomination. Guffey was reported ready to withdraw from the field in the event Lawrence is chosen to make the race.

Guffey May Seek Nomination.

From highly important but unofficial sources, however, came the warning that Guffey will seek the nomination for himself if the Lewis-Kennedy faction succeed in stopping Lawrence's drive. Indications were that some harmony existed among the conferees.

Senator Guffey has no intention of relinquishing his present position, explained a spokesman, "but in the event of a deadlock on the candidate for governor he is willing to run as a harmony candidate."

Guffey, Lawrence, Lewis, Kennedy, Philip Murray, head of the SWOC, William F. Gallagher, chief clerk of the house of representatives, James J. Law, Luzerne county leader, and City Chairman John B. Kelly conferred at the Montecarlo country home of Matthew H. McCleskey, Philadelphia co-leader with Kelly.

JAPAN FORMALLY REJECTS REQUESTS FOR NAVAL PLANS

note was handed to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew at 10 p. m.

At the same time, a reply also was given to Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, the British ambassador.

No Menace Planned

Both notes declared Japan has no intention whatever of possessing naval armaments that would menace other powers. They branded as "domestic" the assumption that Japan is exceeding the London naval treaty limits simply because she does not supply the information demanded.

In brief, the notes blamed British and American naval building for measures which Japan has felt obliged to take.

As the London naval conference, the notes declared, Japan proposed drastic reduction of armaments with total abolition of battleships and aircraft carriers "which are purely aggressive weapons."

At the same time, Japan contended that qualitative limitation of armaments unaccompanied by quantitative could not bring about an equitable distribution.

Japan has always insisted upon a quantitative or global total tonnage instead of qualitative limitation by categories as embodied in all existing treaties. The Japanese conception of a "common upper limit" would permit each nation to build as many ships of a certain class as it needs, provided the total does not exceed the gross tonnage agreed upon.

"Unfortunately," the notes declared, "the views of the imperial government of Japan were not shared by you and other governments."

"Failure to accept Japan's reasonable desires resulted in non-existence of any fair disarmament treaty. Information regarding Japanese construction would not contribute in equitable measure to the cause of disarmament, therefore Japan is unable to comply with the request."

"The assumption of your governments that the imperial Japanese navy is constructing vessels not in conformity with the limits of the 1935 treaty is not logical."

"The treaty providing for exchange of such information is at present no concern of the Japanese government."

The basic attitude of Japan was made clear at the London conference, it was said. As no "fair or equitable treaty exists," Japan cannot afford to disclose her naval construction.

Apprehension has been caused by Britain's "colossal" armament program, the navy department declared, while Japan regards it unfair that the United States should ask for naval information while she herself is expanding.

Responsibility for future developments, it was said, must be borne by the powers "who dogmatically conclude that Japan is building up beyond the treaty limits."

"But Japan is not a party to the treaty," the note said. "The imperial government regrets to state that if the powers undertake more extensive construction, it leaves Japan no alternative than to alter her own construction plans."

The note reiterated Japan's immediate readiness to discuss disarmament if primary importance is given to quantitative limitation.

FACTS ABOUT INCOME TAX

LOSSES FROM CASUALTIES, THEFT, AND WAGERS

To be deductible, a loss arising from "fires, storms, shipwrecks, or other casualty" need not be connected with the taxpayer's trade or business. If his home or his automobile is destroyed by fire, or his summer bungalow damaged by flood or storm, he may claim a deduction for the loss sustained.

Loss of property by theft or burglary is an allowable deduction, and need not be incurred in trade or business. Hence, the loss occasioned by the theft of jewelry or an automobile used for pleasure and convenience is deductible. It must be established, however, that the property actually was stolen. Should circumstances attending the loss leave the owner in doubt as to whether it was stolen or lost, the claim would not be allowed.

Losses from wagering transactions are allowable only to the extent of the gains from such transactions.

A loss is deductible only in the year in which it is sustained, even though, as in the case of a theft or casualty, it may not be discovered until a later year. Losses compensated for by insurance or otherwise, of course, are not deductible. However, in the event the amount of insurance is not sufficient to reimburse for the loss sustained, the excess of the loss over the amount of the insurance is deductible.

In general, losses for which an amount may be deducted for income tax purposes must be evidenced by closed and completed transactions, fixed and completed events, bona fide and actually sustained during the taxable period for which claimed. For instance, a person possessing stock of a corporation cannot deduct from gross income any amount claimed as a loss merely on account of shrinkage in value of such stock through fluctuation of the market or otherwise. The loss allowable in such cases is that actually suffered when the stock is disposed of. If stock of a corporation becomes worthless, its cost or other basis is deductible by the owner for the taxable year in which the stock becomes worthless, provided a satisfactory showing is made of its worthlessness. A loss on account of stock becoming worthless is deductible only for the taxable year in which the stock becomes worthless and not for any other year, regardless of the fact that there may not be income for the year in which the stock becomes worthless against which to apply such loss.

On the same platform with the Michigan senator will be Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, whose grandfather filed a prominent role in Republican history for nearly half a century.

In New York

Speaking in New York before the National Republican club will be Governor George D. Aiken of Vermont and Representative Bruce B. Bessie of New York, both of whom are considered to have their identification up for 1940. Aiken recently achieved some prominence by advocating a party "purge" of Republican national commissioners from southern states, where Republicanism is more of non-denominational "big game" than in the north.

First term in Congress is a relative newcomer in the Republican picture. He won his first seat on a man Hamilton.

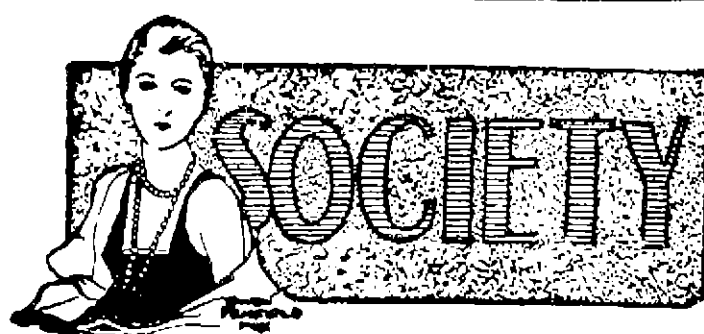

The policy committee is headed up by Dr. Glenn Frank, former president of the University of Wisconsin and is unique in that its membership contains no Republican representatives. It is entirely a "lawyer's committee," under the aegis of Dr. Frank. Its official name is "The Republican Committee on Program" and the members thereof were hand-picked by Chairman.

In upper New York state, at Utica, Senator Warren Austin of Vermont will address a large Republican gathering. Austin has been one of the most persistent critics of the Roosevelt administration.

On in Grand Rapids, Mich., there will be a banquet of Republican orators, headed by the national chairman, John D. M. Hamilton, Senator Bridges of New Hampshire and Representative Carl Mendenhall.

Afterward, a program of entertainment arranged by Mrs. Roy Long, Mrs. Thomas Lindsay and Mrs. E. A. Fruton, was featured. Guessing contests, games and group singing were the avenues of pastime, until time to depart.

The next regular meeting will take place on February 25, at the home of Mrs. George C. White instead of with Mrs. Gates as scheduled in the Sorosis year booklet.

"Lincoln Never Went to College"

Have you ever heard a father say, "I never went to college. I went through the school of hard knocks. My boy can fight it out like I did. Like Lincoln did. He didn't go to college either." Too much stress has been placed on Lincoln's lack of education, which was due to no choice of his own. The real facts of the case were that, in later life, when he was studying for the Illinois bar, Lincoln employed a private tutor and paid him well.

Lack of an education is a terrific handicap, a millstone around any young man's neck. While a college background is a pair of wings that lift him soaring above the crowd.

Today, through the Reliance Educator, you can guarantee your child's education. No matter if you're laid off by accident or sickness... or if you meet with financial reverses... or even if you're no longer here... the money will be ready when he's ready for college.

Let me send you a folder describing the Reliance Educator.

CANADIAN radio, which is an interesting combination of governmental and private enterprise, seems to be getting nearer to complete nationalization. The license fee of $2 a year on receiving sets is now raised to $2.50. As Transport Minister Howe explains, this is done "to enable the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to keep its commercial activities, and dependence on them, within reasonable limits, and to extend broadcasting service."

As Americans who line in on Canadian stations know, there has been very little commercialization of radio programs in Canada, and still less in England, whose policy Canada seems inclined to copy. We Americans remain the most commercial-minded people on earth, in our radio as in many other things, and stand for radio practices that no other civilized country would tolerate. We do so because most of our people don't seem to mind the commercialism, and because we save money by it, getting our air entertainment free. We probably get, too, more varied programs than governmental radio would give us. It doesn't seem likely that we shall change this policy, but public opinion begins resenting the more blatant forms of advertising and the most serious offenses against good taste and morals. As it does so, the corrective influence is soon noticeable. The public gets what it wants when it makes its wants clearly known.

AMERICA'S MURDER RECORD SCORED

England takes the opportunity to crow just a little over statistics which show that in 1935 there were 12,741 murders committed in the United States as against 312 committed in Great Britain. Or, in other words—allowing for differences in population—an American stands 12 times as great a chance of being murdered as an Englishman. That's noteworthy and something of which England may well be proud. But just to take the edge off any complacency, it might be pointed out that an Englishman stands 13 or possibly 120 times as great a chance of having his bloodstain head blown off by a long range shell, an airplane bomb or a hunk of shrapnel as does an American. One form of murder is about as pleasant as another—and just as final.

MORE U. S. ARMED FORCES LEAVING CHINA

Americans learn with relief that more of our armed forces are being withdrawn from China. Lately there have been 4,000 there, representing the army, navy and marine corps. With the coming departure of the Fifteenth Infantry from Tientsin, and the 1,400 marines sent to China last summer, our troops there will be reduced to more than half. The army men are all going. Only marines, our "police men of the sea," will be left, scattered thinly in Peiping, Tientsin, Shanghai and a few other important places. The policing of danger-spots in China with American soldiers is more of an old American custom than many of us realize. The infantry company at Tientsin has been there ever since the overthrow of the Manchukuo dynasty in 1912. The personnel has changed, but the unit remained.

The marines are trained to such work as protecting American citizens and preserving order in foreign places during troublous times. Their quiet courage, self-control and shrewd handling of difficult situations are well known. But they make a very thin, red-white-and-blue line of heroes in a land of 450,000,000 people when a cold-blooded foreign army like Japan's is shooting things up.

Our people at home would like to see all of them withdrawn. But that is difficult as long as so many of our civilian citizens insist on remaining there.

BUT HANDS OFF THE HANDBAG!

While Japanese officials are the world's champion word-jugglers, they are having as much trouble as our own in learning the balancing act as applied to national budgets. Japan is not at war with China, but needs a lot more money to finance her peace expedition, which is costing millions of yen a day. So Japan's Mr. Morgenthau is looking around for new things to tax.

He has conceived the bright idea of drawing up a list of "non-essentials" and soaking them. It comprises hats (let your hair grow), neckties (boards for substitutes), shirts (just button up the coat), parasols (nothing like a good sun tan), many other articles and—women's handbags! Here is where the Japanese Finance Minister is running straight into trouble. He must be a bachelor. Has he ever looked into a woman's handbag and observed its multifarious contents of absolutely indispensable articles: lipstick, mirror, puff, coin purse, cigarette case, handkerchief, cold cream, ropes, shopping list, chocolate bars, fountain pen, diary, perfume, photographs, postage stamps, bobby pins, old bills, needles and thread, chewing gum, letters from "him," street car tokens, movie tickets, timetables, keys, cough drops—but why continue?

The list of feminine portable accessories that are absolutely essential is interminable. So how can the handbag that contains them be termed non-essential? If he doesn't want to invite a domestic revolution, the Honorable Okinobu Kaya will leave the little Japanese ladies' handbags strictly alone. And why not return queer old laws when they are seventy years old? Ethics: A natural development, attained by discarding schemes that pay a profit but cost too much in the long run. If they have been married five years and can tell you the exact color of one another's eyes, they are joyously happy. Brazil's new boss assures us the debt owing the United States will not be paid. Apparently, the chap isn't going to establish any radical precedents. College professors have accepted poets in Stalin's Bolshevik regime. It takes these bold academicians to snap their fingers at sudden death. "This country has grown soft and luxurious," says Sinclair Lewis, who doesn't get around very much now that he has landed in the money.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SLEEP BOTHERS STUDENTS

In my early student days, I had great trouble with sleeplessness, often falling asleep over my lessons. Sometimes I would walk about, even outdoors, and bathe my face in cold water. While at college, I once became so desperate—my hours of sleep were long enough—that I took a cold plunge each morning in a tub of cold water. I did have less sleepiness, but I grew so "creaky" that I went to my doctor for advice. When I told him of the morning plunge, he replied "No wonder!"

I do not know how much of my difficulty was from eye strain or other physical difficulties, and how much from early habits of sleeping in a chair. Numerous cases have come to my attention of youths afflicted with extreme sleepiness in spite of an adequate amount of sleep, found by medical experts to have certain types of glandular deficiency, also of some whose sleepiness was corrected with the aid of proper eye glasses. Most students who are now fighting sleepiness over their lessons, if they have regular habits, could afford to have themselves checked in these directions.

Abraham Lincoln

By J. W. Neyman, Ph. D.

Abraham Lincoln grows in the estimation of the American people as the years pass. The anniversary of the birth of the Great Emancipator gives a suitable opportunity to call attention to the greatest man of American history. Every nation has its heroes and their fame increases with passing time. Lincoln's fame has grown steadily, not only with the nation he saved, but also with all who are familiar with his history. He ranks among the greatest statesmen of the world. He was a man who rose from the backwoods and has less than a year of schooling in the poorest of schools, but rose to the highest place in the honor of the nation. He was in the fullest sense a "self-made man," but he differed from many who are wont to call themselves "self-made" who have such a high opinion of their maker. Lincoln was the humblest of men and always underestimated his ability.

Lincoln's literary style was beautiful and forceful. His official papers are unrivaled in clearness and forcefulness and brevity. His Gettysburg speech has been pronounced one of the finest pieces of composition in the English language, and second to it must be classed his second inaugural address—the shortest ever made by any President. Where can anything finer be found than this from his second inaugural address: "With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who has borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace, among ourselves, and with all nations."

As a speaker, Lincoln was forceful. His honesty and sincerity cannot be questioned. He understood human nature as few have. He met difficult situations and solved them in a way that was all his own. No other man could have so successfully piloted the nation through the great crisis of the civil war as did Abraham Lincoln. He was among the most tender hearted and sympathetic of men and the necessity of war was to him a great grief. The men that were nearest to him understood best his greatness. U. S. Grant said of him: "He was unquestionably the greatest man I ever met." William H. Sewall said: "He was a man made and moulded by Divine power to save a nation." Edward M. Stanton said: "He was the most perfect ruler of men the world has ever seen." William T. Sherman said: "Of all the men I ever met he seemed to possess more of the elements of greatness combined with goodness than any other."

No better example, no higher ideal can be held before the youth of our nation than the character of this great man. 319 East Lincoln Avenue.

MARRIED FRIENDS

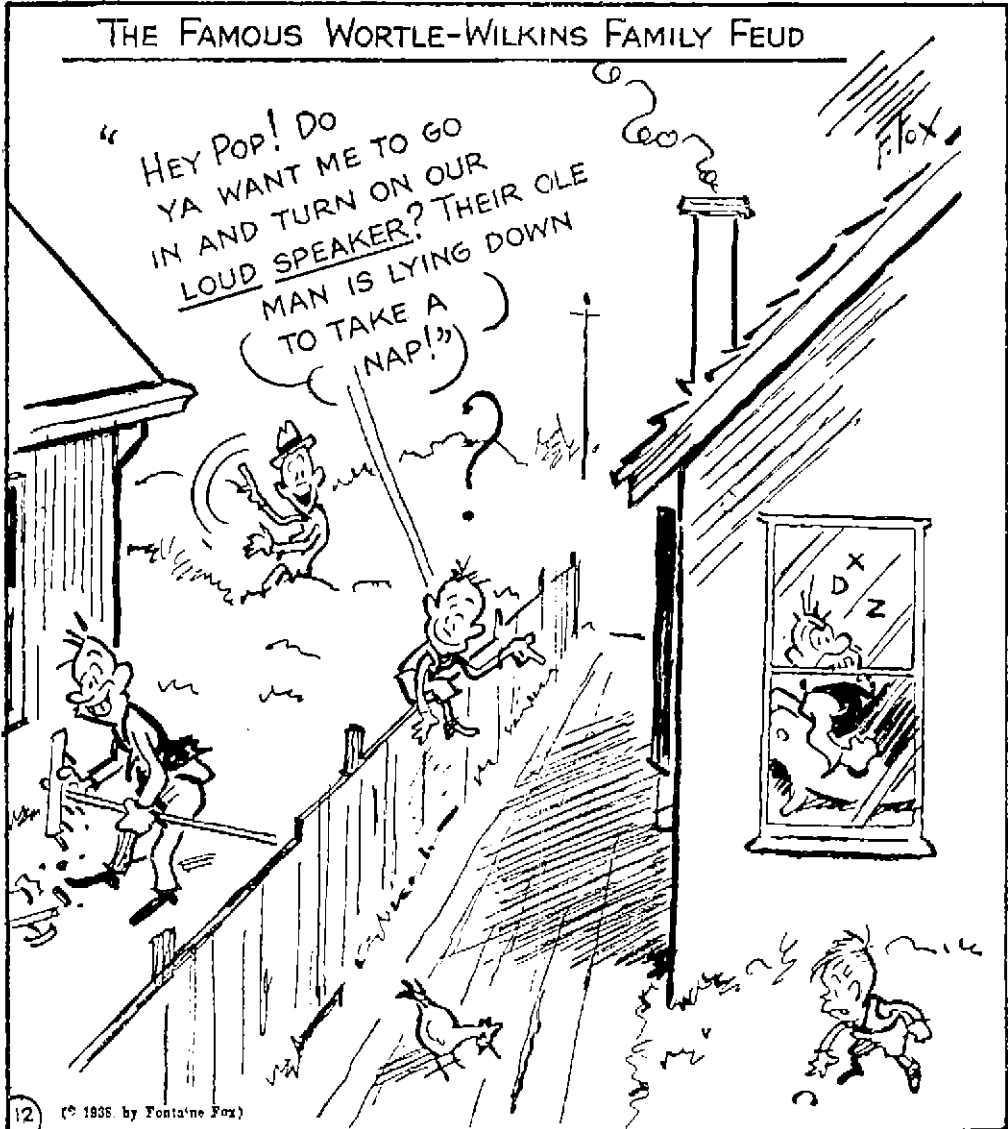

Often when I think of marriage, I think of that time, many years ago, when Robert Louis Stevenson came by canoe to the little town of La Ferte in Normandy, France, and spent the night in the inn that was kept by the soft-spoken Bazin. Bazin said to Stevenson, "I am married and I have my pretty children. But, frankly, it is no life at all. From morn to night, I pledge a pack of good-enough fellows who know nothing." But after the work of the evening was over Bazin and Stevenson sat at the front door talking together, and Madame Bazin came out and sat there, too, tired from the day's work, "and she rested up to her husband and laid her head upon his breast," and "he had his arm about her and kept gently patting her on the shoulder. They were friends, and Stevenson said to himself, 'I think Bazin is right, and he is really married.'"

Would Single Tax Help. Is Questionable Solution. Questions Are Propounded.

By LESLIE EICHEL, Central Press Columnist

A YOUNG MAN of the Henry George School of Social Science, New York, stopped in our office the other day -- and handed us the teachers' manual of the school. It is interesting in that it simplifies all the Single Tax teachings of the master.

In these days of multiple taxes and complex governments, one long for a single tax and a simple government, such as Henry George advocated. One cannot but wonder, however, whether the system is not too simple, whether the problems of a complex civilization can be brought into such an ideal and comforting conception. No true Single Taxer would wonder that, but one who writes a column on many subjects becomes a bit skeptical over even the most ideal suggestion.

Certain it is, however, that Henry George remains far above any political economist or prophet who has risen in America since his time 60 years ago. His words ring as true today as then, his prophecies, the direct of them, are being fulfilled as if they were the surest fate.

READJUSTMENT OVERTAKES US The teachers' manual is in itself a liberal education. That is—if you have a mind open to this economic philosophy, which, as with all major economic philosophies, requires a social readjustment as well. The two never are separated; they are part and parcel.

But even if nothing is done, or especially if nothing is done to counteract a depression or unbalanced national income or unbalanced international income, the social readjustment comes anyway.

much more violently, and in a much more costly manner.

SOME QUESTIONS Now let us read a few questions and answers in the manual.

Q. "A period of speculation precedes every depression." This has given rise to two diametrically opposed explanations for depression. What is the over-production theory?

A. "Speculation has increased production beyond the demand for consumption, thus bringing on a depression."

Q. "What is the over-consumption theory?"

A. "Speculation has caused extravagance beyond the means of the people and the resulting depression is merely a period of retrenchment."

Q. "What is wrong with these explanations for industrial depression?"

A. "There cannot be over-production or over-consumption when people are in want and willing to exchange their labor for the labor of others."

Q. "What is the effect of speculation in the products of labor?"

A. "Speculation in the products of labor simply raises the price and production is stimulated, which tends to lower the price again."

Q. "Why is speculation in land different from speculation in the products of labor?"

A. "Land is a fixed quantity. Speculation in land cannot stimulate the production of more land, by raising the price."

Q. "Where does all production begin?"

A. "On the land. The primary and fundamental occupations, which create a demand for all other goods, are those which extract wealth from nature."

Q. "What then is the effect of (Continued On Page Seven)

THOSE CO-EDS!

On a night in January a newspaper man visited the University of Redlands, California. It was the night that Nelson Eddy gave a concert there and Nelson Eddy is a singer who makes the hearts of Co-eds beat faster.

It was the big night of the year and here's his chronological impression of the Nelson Eddy concert at the University of Redlands chapel, where every seat was sold and even the choir loft was packed:

7:50 P.M.—A wave of girls in pink, blue, yellow, green and orange, evening dresses swishes out of the dormitories and inundates the campus. Their excited chatter actually wakes sleepy birds in the trees.

8:05—So many black velvet coats in the chapel it looks for a moment like a gathering of mice without their ears. But when the wares come off there is a different impression. One girl in the tenth row appears to have forgotten to wear a dress in the back. Must investigate.

8:10—Great excitement. Concert about to start. Bernard G. Hyman, in charge of affairs, about to pass out trying to pack in some more gushing females. Very crowded.

8:20—Nelson Eddy just came on the stage. Clad in silver head-dress whippers. "Oh, his hair isn't as sold as it was!" But nobody seemed to mind. Deafening applause.

8:25—Still can't tell about the girl in the tenth row.

8:41—Gentleman expert on acoustics in new seat says no other singer ever made himself heard in this hall. Remarks that Eddy is the most effortless singer he ever saw and adds Caruso's wheezings and puffings (Continued On Page Seven)

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

A man called Lincoln passed this way! Born in a cabin bleak and bare; Knew toil and hunger and despair And learned from want and bitter need A simple, sympathetic creed.

His way was hard. All things of pride To him were from the first denied. He was a body stripped of ware; He was an unattractive face. Yet when he spoke men's hearts were stirred. Because the soul within they heard.

Of was he mocked and oft betrayed. Yet patient with all men he stayed. He rose as high as man can rise. He was a man who never lies. Gained power and skill to all he knew. This man called Lincoln gentle grew.

Back to the dust have journeyed kins. Their thrones but scarce remembered things. Their greatness merely of the hour. Their power destroyed by greater power. But all the world recalls today A man called Lincoln passed this way.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 12

Once Upon February 12th, Blackstone linked together in the law, "Women, infants and brutes." Blackstone may be found to have turned over in his grave, for today there are more than 700 women lawyers in New York City alone.

There are women judges in many states, and one feminine occupant of the federal bench has been suggested as a supreme court possibility.

For this, a lot is owed to Myra Colby, who was born in Manchester, Vt., 107 years ago today. Married to a lawyer, she studied law to help him with his work. She had no pretention of entering practice herself when she applied for admission to the bar. Refused, she determined to devote her life to gaining legal rights for women. When she fought the state of Illinois, through the U. S. supreme court, to revoke her right to practice, she lost the decision, but eventually she won a lawyer's license. Instead of using it, however, she established the first legal newspaper ever published in the middle west and was its publisher for many years.

She didn't separate home and career as Mrs. B. Bradwell did, but bore four children.

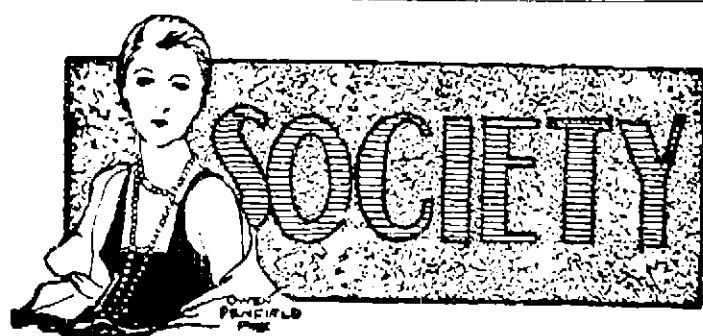

On Other February 12ths, 1858, Margaret Knausbaum was born in Poland, after assuming heretofore a place in history as Mary S. E. Love (Continued On Page Seven)

Annual Scouters Dinner Enjoyed Friday Evening

William G. Avers Is Presented With Silver Beaver Award For Scouting

GOVERNMENT MAN IS SPEAKER AT EVENT

As the notes of a bugle in the hands of Scout Louis Berkeimer sounded the typical "mess call," close to 150 persons gathered in the dining room of the First Christian church Friday evening for the annual Boy Scouters' dinner-meeting.

The assembled group singing "America" under the direction of Bob Cole, opened the program, and was followed by invocation by Rev. Joshua Miller. All of the scouts and scouters rose to their feet and repeated in unison the scout oath.

A delicious dinner menu was efficiently served by the ladies of the church.

At the close of the banquet Scout Executive Carl E. Green, introduced the toastmaster, Earl Richards, who in turn, introduced the various speakers and entertainers on the program.

Scout Max Lankart entertained with a violin solo accompanied at the piano by his mother, Mrs. Wesley Lankart.

In "Scouting Recollections," Rev. A. M. Stump, president of the Scout Council, presented a beautiful bouquet of flowers to Mrs. J. Lee Callahan, who was a special guest. Rev. Stump also introduced Rev. Joshua Miller, a new-comer to this city who attained his Eagle scout rank at the age of 20 years. Rev. Miller was former pastor of the local St. John's Lutheran church. He has been living in Greensburg for some years and just last month returned to this city to live.

Assistant Scoutmaster David Aiken sang several vocal selections. The entire business committee entertained the group with some vocal tunes.

A high-spot in the program was the presentation of the Silver Beaver Award by Rev. G. S. Bennett. This award was given to William G. Avers for distinguished service to boyhood. This is the eighth Beaver in Lawrence county, others being awarded in former years to Ralph Davis, L. B. Round, Fred J. Reitz, Rev. G. S. Bennett, Jack Pearson, Rev. A. M. Stump and Nelson Ruyman.

"Scouts In Camp," a short skit, was presented by the following boys from Troop 18 under the direction of Cy Schaller: Jack Lipp, Jack Gilliland, Billy Davis, Edward Vandegriff, Tom Elliot, Norman Patterson, Jack Miller and Jack Winter. J. J. Underhill, assistant in charge of the Pittsburgh office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was introduced at this time for a talk. Underhill spoke on "Youth In Crime." He explained the many details encountered when dealing with criminals. "Crime Does Not Pay" was the theme of his talk, which proved unusually interesting and held the attention of his audience from beginning to end.

Bugler Berkeimer, sounding taps, and the audience singing, brought the event to a close.

and 1914, writes in his autobiography:

"I had to learn to work to concentrate attention. It came hard. I used to go over and over some confused thought and fall asleep. I used to go to bed at 10 o'clock and find that I would fall asleep so often that I would take strong coffee to keep me awake. And at last, one day, I went to bed at 10 o'clock and found that I was awake at 11 o'clock. I was a wretched way to study medicine."

The Coffee For Stimulant

I have heard many other students refer to the use of coffee. And to this day, if I have to do some writing on short notice, several cups of coffee give me temporary aid. With such assistance some of my columns have been written in the few hours of the morning.

But I would not advise others to drift into a state of drinking coffee to keep them awake. The danger is that one may drive himself too hard, and even be unable to fall asleep when the job is done.

I would warn my young friends never to let themselves fall asleep in a chair, certainly not over a book. The habit can grow into a great nuisance. Often I think of those fathers who after a heavy dinner will sit in a chair and sleep, with the family all around them. If they are going to sleep, let them go off to bed. Not fair to the family to sleep there. It is about as rude as to read the newspaper at the breakfast table in the presence of the children. Besides, many fathers who sleep in the chair miss a deal of fun with the family and the opportunity to improve themselves by reading.

DR. J. ALVIN ORR RESIGNS PLACE

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12.—The Rev. Dr. J. Alvin Orr, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of the North Side for nearly a quarter of a century, has offered his resignation from his post. It was revealed today.

Dr. Orr, who held other Pittsburgh ministries a decade ago in a city-wide anti-vice crusade and is dean of the city's United Presbyterian ministers, made the offer to leave because of ill health. His congregation, however, refused to accept his resignation and has urged him to take a three-month leave of absence to regain his health.

The World At A Glance

the increase of rent through speculation in land."

A. "The checking of production by a lock-out of labor and capital by land owners. This check to production, beginning at the basis of interrelated industry, propagates itself from exchange point to exchange point, becoming failure of demand, until unemployment is widespread."

Q. "Can there be industrial depression if labor and capital have ready access to land?"

A. "No. If present unemployed men and idle capital were producing wealth from land, they would be creating effective demand for articles and services produced everywhere."

Q. "Why does poverty persist in spite of increased productive power?"

A. "Every increase in productive power tends to increase rent and decrease wages."

ANSWERS
From that question on, Henry George (or his disciples in their streamlined questions and answers) begin driving at the fundamentals of the Single Tax philosophy: To make land common property (but not the improvements or personal property) by appropriating rent through taxation. Then to abolish all other taxation—the sole taxation to be on land values. Titles to land would not be confiscated. "It is only necessary to confiscate rent."

Here are a few other answers:

Q. "What is the cause of inequality in the distribution of wealth?"

A. "Inequality in the ownership of land."

Q. "Would economy in government, or reduced taxes, increase wages?"

A. "No. The owners of land would ultimately reap the whole benefit, as in the case of an increase of productive power."

Q. "Can skill, industry or thrift increase the general level of wages?"

A. "No. These qualities can increase the individual's wages only so long as they are above the average. As those qualities become widespread the tendency is to increase rent."

Q. "Can combinations of workmen increase the general level of wages?"

A. "No. Any advance in wages, above the normal rate, secured by a group must tend to be reduced to the normal by (1) reduction in demand for the products of that group, and (2) increase of laborers in that group."

EFFECT OF TAXES

Is it any wonder that the Single Taxer young man remarked that neither labor nor capital was rushing forward the Single Tax plan?

But capital appreciates what Henry George says concerning taxes on production—that they check production, lessen improvements, restrict opportunity and are costly to collect.

bers who are not attending Sunday school. In other cases the visitor will invite them to be sure and attend their own Sunday school regularly.

In addition to making an effort to get new members, plans will be presented to encourage present members who are not regular in their attendance, to be present every Sunday during the campaign as they will also count as diamonds.

In this connection most Sunday schools will get a percentage of the attendance of the individual classes, and their percentage gain will be shown from Sunday to Sunday within their own Sunday school. A special postal card will be furnished from mailing to those not in attendance. Contests within the Sunday school between classes provide friendly rivalry and also boost attendance.

Every Sunday has a special designation, that of the opening Sunday, February 27 being "Young Peoples Day."

the buildings were in ruins, and I looked all over for the man with Bazin's name on his wall, hoping to find the place where had been a marriage with friendship. But I did not find it, and I'm sorry I didn't.

And not long ago I heard a woman saying, "My husband and I are very good friends. I wasn't supposed to hear what she said, but I listened just the same. Her husband loved her, but she didn't love as she loved him years before; wasn't altogether her fault; she just didn't, that's all, but she and he were still good friends. 'Which is,' she said, softly, 'perhaps better, after all, than being lovers.'"

No, it is not better, because lovers should be friends as well. But certainly better than being bound together in wishful, nagging, distrustful, stormy, or even boredom. Many marriages are like that. In many marriages one is always accusing, the other is explaining or worse, neither cares what the other does. The two are estranged, and have no life at all in each other.

A marriage without friendship may be many, many other things, but it's not a true marriage of a man and a woman. It may be an economic arrangement, it may be the perdition of children, it may be a passionate love affair—but it is not marriage.

Consistory Dinner Club Entertained With Farce Comedy

Sketch Written By Ross D. Rocaberger Presented By Legion Of Honor

Three attending the February party of the Consistory Dinner Club at the Cathedral last evening were entertained by the Legion of Honor, who presented a farce comedy, "The King of Denmark," written by Ross D. Rocaberger, one of the members of the Legion of Honor, who was presented under the direction of Commander Edward D. Rocaberger.

The cast consisted of the audience was kept in an uproar of laughter from the start to the finish.

Following an excellent dinner, the guests were entertained with illustrated songs, led by Ross MacNab, of Los Angeles, Calif., former local resident, and a member of the Consistory here. This feature made a big hit with the audience.

During the course of the evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fowler, of Alliquippa, were presented with a beautiful electric dipper, in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. The presentation was made by a group of their friends, who celebrated the occasion by attending the dinner party in a body.

During the evening, members of the consistory also signed a huge greeting card, which will be sent to William H. Woods, of Johnstown, chief of police at Westmont, a suburb of Johnstown, who has been ill.

The evening's pleasures were topped off with dancing and cards. In spite of the bad condition of the roads, there was a large crowd in attendance.

FEW YOUNGSTERS
SEEN IN CROWD

By O. O. McIntyre
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—We set off on one of those aimless Sunday evening strolls without objective. The city generally was burying to the moans and caws. And that is why a shadowy brick church on the fringe of things, its bell ringing so sadly, appeared a sudden symbol of relief.

O. O. McIntyre, of gentle balldom, and on the impulse of the moment, we too, climbed the steps, the first church-going in months. Like many reluctants I am continually assailed, once inside a church edifice, for my neglect in attendance. It requires only an hour out of the week and there is no other place where one may so satisfactorily relax into surprise, and almost unbelievable calm. Frequently many pay $600 per seat to be bored at plays that offend taste and yet waver between a 40-cent piece and a dollar bill at the church offertory. I had a far more comfortable seat than at most theatres and was not annoyed by attitude-striking pests.

There was a serene earnestness about the pastor, a Bert Lyell looking gentleman slightly gray and in his 40's, I should say, that was convincing him believed what he preached. His rest was as I remember from Italy: "Thou wilt keep in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee, etc." An old and familiar theme, of course. Stripped of verbiage, just another version of the aged simplicity: Trust in the Lord. Yet it had a consoling warmth that sparked an inner glow.

I was interested in the scattered congregation. Probably 100 in a church that might easily seat 500. About six young folk in their teens. Probably 25 middle aged and the remainder oldish, in their 60's. All well but quietly dressed. The complacency was marked in contrast to the usual metropolitan crowd. No giggling, coughing or glancing about.

Not since my courting days had I joined in a hymn. I glanced about and there did not seem to be a person not trying to lift voice in song. My grandmother used to sing hymns that when dispensed and often remarked she felt happier. "They roll the gloom away," she declared. Indeed, every face did seem brighter, the atmosphere rain-washed.

The sermon over, the preacher was at the door to meet members of his slim congregation. He saw my wife and I were strangers, inquired if we lived in the city and introduced us to a couple near by. We were invited to come often, also to attend a little social event in the basement an evening hence. It was quite folksy and alien to the usual New York manner. Most of his congregation, he said, were regulars. So far as he could observe we were the only strangers there that evening. His church had full membership of 700 but his congregation, he said a bit sadly, partly averaged more than 300 and that at the Sunday morning service. He took our address and hoped some day he might be permitted to call.

Meandering northward into the buzz-fuzz of the evening roar, we could not help but reflect on thousands of churches similarly struggling—veritable vortexes in the gathering terms. Each trying valiantly and often pathetically to establish a need of hope, peace and comfort in a hungering world of vanishing faith. And how little most of us did in such worthy endeavor, morally, financially or otherwise. There is no place in a vast city where the lonely are so compassionately and sincerely welcomed as at the average church. For this reason alone one would think they would be filled.

This, too, I had had a troubling week. Yet I felt markedly reposed leaving the church. There was a tranquility and a fresh clarity of thought and vision about the week to come. Also I slept like the proverbial log that night. Yet like so many laggards it will probably be some time before I go to church again. Too many are that way about matters of the spirit—at a time when as never before have we needed bolstering of cherished beliefs.

Asking the county commissioners to consider favorably a three dam system on the Big Run a group of citizens met with them Friday morning. Harry J. Clark, Frank E. Smith, Early Ruby and a representative of the Junior Chamber of Commerce presented this idea. They would raise the level of the dam, and the Cascade Park lake. Then a dam would be built below the park some distance which would cover 13 acres of land.

They argue that such a series of dams would save the south side from high water in spring freshets and save money to taxpayers. The cost of the materials was not definitely set but was thought to be around $10,000. The labor would be provided by the WPA.

The commissioners promised to look into the matter and give the committee an answer later.

The new coroner, C. Piper Byers was sworn in at ten-thirty Friday morning. Judge Thomas W. Dickey administered the oath. Ordinarily the prothonotary and clerk of courts administers the oath but in this case Judge Dickey and Mr. Byers are friends of years standing. Mr. Byers has assumed his new duties and will serve until the first Monday of January 1940 by appointment of Governor George H. Earle.

William Evans, who painted the county treasurer's office has been awarded the contract to paint the offices of Chief Clerk W. A. Eakin and County Controller Frank W. Hill. His price is $75, considerably lower than the other bids put in. He will have the work finished inside of a week. Three coats of paint will be put on, including the one coat of sizing.

Negotiations for the Boyles property next to the court house have been discontinued according to Commissioner Floyd L. Cotton president of the board. "There was quite a difference between the asking and offering price," said Cotton, "and we could not bridge the gap. For the present at least negotiations are off."

Judge James A. Chambers who was stricken with illness in December, is now recovering fast. He made his first trip out doors several days ago and was awarded the amount stated by the alderman. The court held the alderman had no jurisdiction in such case.

Charles Gurziolo doing business as the Castle Produce Company has entered suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad for $549 damages, with interest from February 1, 1936 for damages to a car load of bananas alleged to have been improperly cared for.

Lots Of City WPA Work Planned Here
During a recent meeting between unemployed and city officials Mayor Charles E. McGrath stated that when the projects now approved by the WPA are launched it is likely to result in every idle man in the city being kept busy. The city has a large street paving program to put through and hopes also to build the North Mercer street-Buclid avenue storm sewer this summer. Start of the paving program will await suitable weather conditions. City Engineer Glenn R. Throop stated at the meeting.

AROUND CITY HALL

Only 15 persons appeared before His Honor, the Mayor, yesterday afternoon when traffic court was conducted in City Hall. All of them had received a tag because of a violation of the parking motor ordinance or because they parked too near a street intersection. After the hearings had been concluded Mayor McGrath stated that in his belief those who have appeared before him believed they had a legitimate cause to be excused from paying a fine. His Honor has been lenient in his treatment and very courteous in his dealings with the motorists. He has time and again stated that parking meters were not installed for the purpose of securing revenue for the city, but rather to help the traffic situation.

Because of situations that arise, usually only on Saturday night, the parking meters will not be patrolled by police after 6 o'clock tonight.

According to city detectives, there has been a similarity between two recent burglaries and an attempt to enter a third business house. The burglars have entered through windows. The city has been quite free of serious crime and in an effort to prove that it will be kept that way, city detectives and police are working strenuously to apprehend the thieves.

Court Of Honor Held For Scouts

Event Takes Place On Friday Evening At First Presbyterian Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 12.—Ellwood City district Scout court of honor held the first meeting of the year in the First Presbyterian church of Ellwood City last night. Rev. A. M. Stevenson, chairman of the new court of honor, presided.

The meeting was a precedent in scouting, so far as is known, and is one that will linger long in the memory of those who witnessed the scene, and still greater will be the feeling with those boys who were honored by being presented to the court for advancement or awards.

The rooms were open about 6:30, and were well filled at seven p. m. At that time Court Musical Edwin Gamble began a prelude of appropriate music. Harold's Lark, Assistant District Commissioner Eric B. Vahm, assisted by Scouts, served as usher, and by the time court was formally opened few vacant seats were to be found. The program was as follows:

Scoutmaster Charles Rabberman acted as color sergeant, with four Scouts from troop No. 1, and led in the oath of allegiance.

Third Vice Chairman George Reiser led the group in the Scout oath and law. Chairman of the Court Rev. A. M. Stevenson declared the court open after an appropriate Scout story. He then instructed the chairman of the board of review, E. W. Gamble, to name scoutmasters who were present with Scouts for honors as follows:

Scoutmaster Charles Rabberman of Foreman troop No. 1 presented Robert Wallis and Albert Wilson for second-class, and later Louis Leffer for animal industry and Harry McNeil for rep. study and farm layout.

Scoutmaster S. M. Shaw of troop No. 2, Frisco V. P. D., presented William Neale, Robert Nagle, John Nello, Jr., Ray H. Koah, Forrest Dobson, Thomas Ruby, Scott Stephenson, William Robinson, Raymond Best, all for second-class.

Assistant Scoutmaster David Aiken of troop No. 7 presented the following boys with merit badge awards: Tony Tonia, public health and first aid; Frederick Greger, Jr., and study; Belmont Dew, citizenship; Paul Gamble, first aid.

Scoutmaster O. J. Kemp of troop No. 8 (Rotary) presented Gerald Roseman, Harry Kemp and Donald Magee for second-class advancement, and James Mackesak for merit badge in leathercraft, public health and personal health; Paul Rossman and David Morrison then received first-class awards.

Scoutmaster James Gaskell of troop No. 7 called Scout Paul Gamble for star Scout award.

District Commissioner Elden Danner then presented troop 3 of B. V. M. church with the Gerson trophy won by them Monday, Feb. 7, at the annual indoor meet with Scoutmaster Anthony D. Folino receiving the trophy and making response.

Medals from the annual indoor meet were presented by the district secretary, H. M. Bradley, as follows: fire by friction, Paul Gamble of troop 7; bugling, John Vetter, B. V. M. No. 8; signalling, Louis Leffer and Harry McNeil, Lionel Dew and Charles Baer; knotting, Dave Morrison; race by limit and steel, Belmont Dew.

District Chairman C. W. Carbone made presentation of caulkin trophy to Chairman John Lindgren of Shelby No. 7, who in turn presented it to Scoutmaster James Gaskell. Competition for all troops for November and December.

The court was dismissed after the singing of "America" and the Scout's benediction by Chairman Rev. A. M. Stevenson.

New Castle Loses To Beaver Falls 30-20

Locals Lose League Lead

Spart In Final Two Minutes Gives Beaver Falls Game

AMBRIDGE GOES TO TOP OF LOOP

New Castle high school basketball team just about rode out of the Section Three W. T. A. L. race for the title last night by losing to Beaver Falls 30-20 in an exciting battle. It was the third defeat for the locals. Ambridge high, idle last night, took the lead in the section.

The Bradenbaughmen had a hard time getting under way in the first period and scored but one point while yielding four points to Beaver Falls. The end of the first half found the New Castle team in arrears at 14 in the quick save field goals were registered, those by Kozela and Carey, Nocera, Kozela, and Stulek had fouls. Capozza and Walcott paced the Beaver Falls team in the first half with two field goals apiece. Woodick and Rays each had one field goal.

New Castle staged a rally. New Castle looked a lot better in the third period. Coming back strong the New Castle boys outscored the visitors 9 to 4 in the third period, which ended 18 to 16.

Play in the fourth and final period was fast and furious and both teams missed numerous baskets by their eagerness to win. With about two or three minutes left to play the game was tied up at 20-20. Then something happened, the New Castle defense failed. The Beaver Falls boys started to pile in field goals.

New Castle couldn't stop the orange and black clad boys. They piled in ten points while not allowing the Castles a lone point in the final few minutes, and the game ended 30 to 20, with New Castle bewildered by the suddenness of the Beaver Falls ferocious attack. Capozza, Rays and Walcott were the big threats in the side of New Castle with a combined total of 22 points. For the New Castle team the work of Nocera, Kozela and Stulek was by far the best.

The defeat will no doubt put New Castle out of the running if Ambridge beats Ellwood City next Tuesday night and beats Allegheny next Friday night. New Castle has but one more game, that with Butler high here next Friday night to close the season.

It was the first time for quite a few years that the New Castle team has lost to Beaver Falls and the fans in the valley were wild, especially those fans and players from Ambridge, idle last night, but rooting hard for the Beaver Falls team to upset the New Castles.

The New Castle Reserves won the preliminary game 22 to 18. Green and Gennock were the stars.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Members of the Tin City hunting club gathered last night in the banquet hall of the Loyal Order of Moose where they honored two friends from the hunting section, Mike Cranney and his nephew, James. The former lived here until some years ago when he went to Emporium where he operates a hotel. The Tin City Hunting Club has a camp in Rich Valley, Cameron county and the members who go there every year have been treated so courteously by Cranney gathered quickly last night when it was learned his nephew and he were here. Due to pressing business which demanded his attention in the land of deer and bear it was impossible for "Mayo" Leroy Penley to accompany the Cranneys to this city. Various hunters spoke of Mr. Cranney's hospitality. Hunting stories galore were told and according to the members their hunting luck has been good. Fishing in Rich Valley is also excellent according to Cranney. During the banquet members of the club entertained with song and piano and all wished they were at the camp.

Pitt's Football Supremacy May Not Be So "Hot" Now

New Simon Pure System Will Take Glamour From Pitt Panthers

Stringent Rules Will Be Enforced Effective March 1, 1938

By ED. KIELY

International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12.—Abolition of the present athletic council and adoption of an "all faculty" committee may bring to an end, according to sports observers, the football supremacy held for a number of years by the University of Pittsburgh.

The new code which was announced by John G. Bowman, chancellor of the university, made it emphatically clear that Pitt is adopting one of the most stringent collegiate athletic policies of any university in the nation.

Effective March 1 the new policy, which is decidedly negative, takes effect March 1, and includes these points:

1. No scholarships are to be awarded on the basis of athletic skill.
2. No student shall represent the university who receives aid from other sources other than those on whom he is naturally dependent.
3. No "tramp" athletes.
4. No more than eight football games a year, and no game scheduled prior to Oct. 1.
5. No more than two hours of practice a day.
6. No training tables or athletic housing quarters.

The new plan is not an overnight affair but was drawn up after an exhaustive study by committee members of the rules of the leading colleges in the East, which includes the "Ivy league," and the Western conference, which incorporates the "Big Ten."

Play Out Schedules

The complete plan will not be fully in effect for a number of years, according to Director of Athletics James Hagan.

"The schedules are made a few years ahead, and although the scholarship requirements and eligibility restrictions will go into effect beginning March 1, there are some of the rules that will have to be followed until present contracts with schools, not requiring such standings, expire," Hagan declared.

Less stressing of football and concentration on other forms of athletics was initiated by the new faculty committee. And a move to stop all forms of propaganda, I. E. recruiting athletes and inducing them to come to Pitt, and (2) discouraging alumni scholarships for athletes was emphasized by the new group.

Post Season Games?

Pointing out the fact faculty boards appear to be the latest move in athletics, Chancellor Bowman, in his announcement, declared: "Athletics are an undergraduate affair. Matters of scholarship players, rules of eligibility and athletic relationships... because they effect undergraduate education are problems that should be administered by a faculty committee."

No mention of post-season games was made in the new code, but director Hagan stated that there will be left up entirely to a vote of the

Shenango Trims New Wilmington

Victory Gives Shenango Second Place In Section 21; Score Is 26-22

After trailing throughout the first half a fighting Shenango Township high school basketball team staged a spectacular rally to defeat a powerful New Wilmington high quintet, Friday night, on the Shenango hardwood 26-22. As a result, Shenango today occupies the second berth in the Section 21 race.

The college towners led 5-4 at the first quarter ended and managed to hold on during the second stanza, leaving the floor at the half with a 10-8 margin. At the start of the third chapter, the New Castle boys started popping in field goals and soon were out in front, 20-16.

Captain Pitzer again was Shenango's outstanding player, offensively as well as defensively. He held Newton, New Wilmington high forward in check throughout the evening and garnered six points himself. His work under both banks boards was great. One time, he leaped high in the air to tap a ball off the bank board as it was about to drop through the net. This was the best piece of defensive work seen in Lawrence County floor circles in some time.

W. Oels and the Mooney twins, Carl and Sam, also played a battling contest as did Ernie Tanner, for New Wilmington, the work of Mercer, star center, and the Washburns, was outstanding. In the preliminary engagement, the undefeated Shenango high Reserves added the New Wilmington Reserves to their victory list, 24-15. Dunn, Peluso and Fredericks were the big guns for the winners while Borowick, Means and Johns featured for the losers.

Joe Louis Shows Much Improvement Says Jim Braddock

Fastest Puncher I Ever Faced Says Former Champion Of Louis

Picks Louis To Score Quick Knockout Of Nathan Mann In Next Fight

Union Alumni Takes Victory

Score Is 28 To 17 Over Union High Team In Game At Union Court

By LAWTON CARVER

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Feb. 12.—Joe Louis is getting better all the time, he is an improving fighter because he is learning from experience, which, after all, is the only way to attain all-around greatness in the ring, and he should be heavy-weight champion for a long, long time.

For all of that you have the opinion today of James J. Braddock, from whom Louis won the championship last June. Going a little farther, Braddock picked Louis to score a knockout in his defense against Nathan Mann at Madison Square Garden on Feb. 23.

Here to watch the 27-year-old ruler of the pugilistic world labor his sparring partners in preparation for the forthcoming match, Braddock smiled that being as near as he ever comes to admit as reports that Louis was being softened up by happy domesticity and affluence.

"Don't let anybody kid you about that," the former champion said, while watching the Bombers' punches explode. "Louis is improving all the time because he is getting the one thing that you can get only by fighting experience. And that's about all he ever has needed."

Fast Puncher
"He is the fastest puncher I ever looked at and I was in the ring 15 years. No, I'll admit not fast, but he makes up for that. From the waist up he's lightning. And when he hits you he busts you all up."

Braddock pointed to a long scar on his upper lip, memento of the eight-round knockout visited upon him by Louis. "Nobody ever did that to me before," the recently retired former champion reflected.

Changes Defense
Braddock detected in Louis' defense a change—or improvement—that possibly is prophetic of a victory for him over Max Baerling in a June title defense, assuming Louis will beat Mann and one other warned-off opponent, en route to the return match with the German.

The champion has learned to get his ribs out of the way of most right hand punches and to counter quickly, unerringly and with what should be quite devastating results, according to James J. he was with rights to the chin that Schmeling will beat Mann and one other warned-off opponent, en route to the return match with the German.

Although there were other presidents of the United States who died while in office, William Henry Harrison and Zachary Taylor were the only ones whose deaths occurred within the White House.

Cincinnati Has Added Strength May Be In Race

Pittsburgh Is Banking On Johnny Rizzo To Pep Up Outfield

FRICK STARTS SOUTHERN CRUISE

By PAT ROBINSON

International News Service Sports

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Before departing Friday on his annual cruise through Southern seas, Ford Frick, National League proxy, declared the Pirates, who have a hot stove league probably would have to disband for lack of fuel.

A few weeks ago the hot air lanes were crammed with impending deals but now that the annual ballyhoo is dying out, let's take a look at the record to see just what the club owners have done to improve their teams.

Rookies Are Gamble

All of them have acquired some minor league stuff, either by draft or purchase. These rookies are strictly a gamble, although one or two have been labeled as sure fire regulars. Elmer Slaughter, the Cubs' new outfielder, is a case in point.

But, until the rookies prove themselves, the known improvements may be tabbed in this fashion:

Giants, none. Cubs, none. Pirates have a good prospect in Rizzo and a fine-finding, non-hitting catcher in Berres. The Cards have Slaughter but need a catcher. Pitching still is a problem. Braves, not much of anything. The Dodgers have added Leo Durocher and Leo could play more shortstop for them with a broken leg than anybody else has had in years. Phillies, none.

The Reds strengthened themselves 100 percent when they landed Bill McKee, as manager, and he probably will develop a potentially fine pitching staff into a winning combination. Bill also may be able to do something with Tony Bongianni, a slugger from the coast.

Reds' Stronger

On paper, the Reds figure to show more improvement than any other club.

Soon we shall have stories of new Cobbs and Ruths and Mattys drifting up from the South, but along about June we shall find the Cubs, Cards, Pirates and Giants again in the first division and the Reds, Dodgers, Braves and Phils in their usual places. And just about that time Larry MacPhail will announce that "next year the Dodgers will have a sure pennant winner."

Will Local Boy Make Good?

"Swede" Burkhardt is getting a tryout with the Phils. . . . as a boy in the Olney district of Philadelphia. Swede's hobby is clipping pictures and stories about ball players. . . . he even clipped Philadelphia players, so this serves him right. . . . he wants to be a pitcher.

The Phils also have picked up an outfielder who turned pitcher, Bill Ehrensberger, from Beaumont and Sioux City.

Bill Clemensen, 18-year-old pitcher with a world of power, will be one of the young men on his roster.

His father, also named "Swede," was a pitcher who pitched for the way from Santa Cruz, 400 miles to the camp, and the result of the trip was that Bill pitched for Hutchinson, Kas., and did all right. . . . he's a cousin of Larry Doyle, the old Giants second baseman.

We have been looking through the Cards' roster for a harmonica, to be on piccollo player to bring Pep Jim, tossed Frank Gott, 30 years per. Martin's band up to war strength. . . . but the nearest we can find is "Buster" Adams, outfielder from Trinidad, Col. Buster is a surveyor. But come to think of it, Coaker Triplett, former Appalachian State Teacher college star, who hit around 350 in the South-ern last year. . . . they don't call him H. Coaker Triplett on the ball field, however. . . . they call him "Trip."

Harry Craft, who was Mississippi State's football captain in 1934, comes up to the Reds highly touted.

The growth of a fern is aided greatly if a little olive oil is dropped at the foot.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER

Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Getting Personal with the Recruits: It's barely possible Clark Griffith made a mistake last year when he sent Johnny Riddle back to Indianapolis. . . . Riddle is coming back up this year with the Bees, and he was unanimously chosen by A. A. baseball writers as All-Star catcher. . . . Boston will need a good catcher, too, if one of the mound rockers lives up to his name. . . . It's Richard Merritt Erickson, and his father named him after good old Dick Merritt of Yale.

Max West, slugging Pacific Coast outfielder coming up to the Bees, once had the singular experience of being the property of a bank, though I understand they didn't keep him in the vault. . . . a bank seized Max and another player, three years ago, when he was on the Sacramento team, to satisfy a claim. . . . the bank sold him to the Missions.

All Hail, Cesar!

Probably some of the outfield candidates in the Brooklyn training camp will be there to bury Cesar, not to praise him. . . . we mean Julius Cesar, leading base stealer in the Three-Eye last year. . . . Burleigh Grimes may be puzzled by one of the young men on his roster, "Schooby" Cohen, who tried out six years ago as an outfielder. . . . now he's back as a pitcher who won 15 games for Toledo last year. . . . that kind of thing could happen only to a left-hander, of course.

The Cubs have got "Big Train" Asbell, an outfielder who scored 240 points for Rice one season in football. His father, also named Asbell, tossed Frank Gott, 30 years per. Martin's band up to war strength. . . . but the nearest we can find is "Buster" Adams, outfielder from Trinidad, Col. Buster is a surveyor. But come to think of it, Coaker Triplett, former Appalachian State Teacher college star, who hit around 350 in the South-ern last year. . . . they don't call him H. WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Loose Use Of Terms Confuses

Fascist And Communist Are Epithets Hurlled At New Deal And C. I. O.

STEWART SEES HARM IN USAGE

Central Press Washington Bureau, 602 Times-Herald Bldg. By CHARLES P. STEWART, Central Press Columnist. WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Talking the other day with an ardent New Dealer and an ardent "anti-fascist," I listened to a remark by the "anti-fascist" which was, "Well, anyway, you can't deny that the New Deal is a Fascist deal." "I don't particularly admit it," rejoined the "pro," "but I don't particularly deny it, either. It is material. I am a New Dealer, whatever the New Deal is. Say you do classify it as Fascist. What of it? I believe in it. I don't know exactly what Fascism is. I doubt that you do. You use the term 'Fascist' as an epithet. It doesn't influence me a particle."

SIMILAR EPITHETS—I overheard a similar chat about the same time between a C. I. O. supporter and one of C. I. O.'s bitter opponents.

"Your outfit is Communistic," charged the opponent.

"So what?" said the supporter. "It's doing good work, regardless of the philosophy that you consider it's doing it under. You can't prejudice me against it by calling it what you rate as an ugly name."

Parentetically, when John L. Lewis was launching C. I. O., he told me that he deemed vertical unionism the best possible antidote to Communistic, Fascist and Nazi-like tendencies. However, the C. I. O. spokesman I have quoted took the position that C. I. O.-ism is all to the good. Call it anything, he still is for it.

MORE EXAMPLES—There is a deal in this comment. Communistic! That has been a vituperative designation ever since the Russian revolution. It hasn't really meant any more than denouncing a politico-economic opponent as a "polecat." He isn't literally a "polecat" any more, may be, than he is a Communist—but it is hardly complimentary to say that he is, and that's what is intended.

Remember this:

I can remember when it was the custom to speak of a fellow American as a "Socialist."

Today it is semi-respectable to be a Socialist.

Norman Thomas (an ex-clergyman) is one.

In former days, when Herr Most (long forgotten) was prominent, the idea was that a Socialist traveled around with a smoking bomb in each hand.

Socialists and anarchists were grouped together.

They are as far apart as the poles in their respective reasonings, but in those times, no distinction was drawn between them.

LOOSE USE OF TERMS

Anarchy, be it understood, is ultra-pacifistic.

Yet the Chicago Anarchists, five or six years ago, were hanged in the 1890s as militant enemies of society.

And Herr Most (Socialist) would have been hanged in also if he had not had an iron-clad alibi.

They could not have been more absolute opposites.

Yet, in our present discussions, Communists, Fascists and Nazi-like are all jumbled together.

Fascist-Nazi-like versus Communists do not make this mistake.

They hate one another like poison.

Yet, here in the U. S. A., we mix them together.

The fact is, it is just vulgar language—and applied to all of them by folk who haven't the slightest notion which is which, or what any one of them is shooting at.

Democracy is different—but it doesn't know what it's talking about.

It had better find out, or it will evolve some entirely new theory.

Large Crowds Of School Children Attend 'Pinocchio'

Third Program Under Lawrence County P. T. A. Auspices Fine Success

"Pinocchio" the internationally known story about a puppet, was presented twice in New Castle, Friday, under the sponsorship of the Lawrence County P. T. A.

Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, the noted ballet was staged in the George Washington junior high school auditorium. In the afternoon, a second performance was given in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school auditorium. Capacity crowds witnessed the presentations.

"Pinocchio" was by far one of the most enjoyable theatrical presentations here in years. The costumes were exquisite, the dances delightful and the narration was extremely interesting.

The story is about a puppet who came to life and found himself in a perpetual amusing and dangerous adventures. The puppet has been brought to life by Edwin Strawbridge, an eminent American dancer.

Frances Rand, probably the youngest premiere ballerina in the United States, danced her way into the hearts of the juvenile audience. Lanni Carvel served as narrator.

Her manner of speaking the dialogue and happenings in "Pinocchio" completed an ideal children's ballet.

Needless to say, the theatrical presentation was a marked success from every standpoint. This was the third and final stage presentation of the season by the Lawrence County P. T. A.

Members of the Men's Brotherhood of the Croton Avenue M. E. church will gather at the church Monday evening at 8 o'clock for the monthly meeting of the organization.

Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates, pastor of the Third U. P. church, will be the speaker of the evening and will show pictures of Palestine and Rome, with a lecture on the Holy Land and surrounding territory.

At the close of the evening, lunch will be served by the committee in charge of arrangements.

TEACHERS' SPEECH TEST

NEW YORK.—Good morning children. This is your new teacher speaking—I hope. Into a little black box 22 candidates for teaching posts led off 10-minute speeches with those or similar expressions today. The Board of Examiners of teachers having figured out every other possible angle of differentiating between candidates added the voice angle—on talking film—and a flaw in pronunciation may now mean the difference between appointment and rejection.
